than any other single place. To visit Peggy's Cove is to come home to a known place. It's a place of such scenic perfection that it can be recorded from any angle with marvelous results.

Peggy's Cove sits at the base of a huge stone cliff which takes the force of the Atlantic and breaks it, taming and mellowing the great combers. On the other side of this rock wall boats tie up to finger piers at fishermen's shacks. Gulls wheel and the soft fog mutes the colors of the craft and gear. Your memory knows this place and has a special reverence for its nautical beauty.

Selectmen's Meeting

ASKS MILEAGE CHANGE

Mrs. Priscilla Hathaway, representing the Historical Commission, met with Selectmen and requested that that body as a separate entity should be allowed to prepare budget items that reflect a separate need and condition from town government which is salaried. Mrs. Hathaway said that she and the other members of the Commission are volunteer, unpaid workers doing a service which requires trips to Plymouth. She said that they all

She said that this causes the difference between the 12¢ allowance and the 18¢ actual cost to come out of the volunteer worker's pocket and she doesn't think people should have to pay a penalty for the privilege of doing hundreds of hours of public service for the town.

The Selectmen took the matter under advisement so they could study the way the Commission is set up to see if a budget rate can be a separate rate in a budget not directly tied to the rate set for the town in general.

BAY CABLE TV PROGRESS

The manager of Bay Cable TV, Jerry Smith, told Selectmen that installation of cable is ahead of shedule and is proceeding according to routes determined by the density of the neighborhoods to be served. He said that the company is now in its first phase of installation and expecting new maps to determine the next installation phase which will be arriving in about a month. Mr. Smith said that some residents had expressed concern that the cable had not reached their section, particularly in the Brandt Island area, and had called his office. He said that most areas of the town would be served with only isolated places of low density population uneconomically feasible. Even in those instances, he said, a method might be worked out with the resident sharing the installation cost with the company.

Open Letter to Parents

There have been several open letters to the public before about various problems, ie. vandalism, drinking, parties, and "kids". This letter is about what we as parents can do to help. Last Wednesday evening approximately 150 concerned adults gathered at O.R.R.J.H.S. to listen to a panel speak about Drug and Alcohol Abuse.

We were shown and told of the dangers our kids are facing today both on the streets and in our schools. It's here -- not some day -- not two towns over, BUT HERE AND NOW -- even if your kid is a "good" kid;

Reverend Myers quoted from Peter Marion's book Understanding Drug Use: "We cannot change the behavior of young people without changing our own". We as parents are the best examples our children have to follow. Over and over again the experts told us -- TALK to your kids--shut off the T.V. and the stereo; be late for your next meeting; delay your next phone call - talk with your children.

Membership in a Lioness Club is not restricted to Lions' wives but is open to any women who would like to express their concern for human need through service activities that benefit communities both near and far.

A large turnout is hoped for at the March 28 meeting so that women in the three towns will have an opportunity to learn more about what being a Lioness can mean to them in order that they might make a more informed decision when considering membership. Speakers at the program will include past International Director Ernie Smith, Lioness Club Advisor George Simmons, Deputy District Governor Bob Babbitt, Mattapoissett

Protecting Your Property

CRIMES AGAINST PROPERTY

Do you know the difference between "robbery" and "breaking and entering"? If your home was broken into, would you know how to help the police in their investigation? Are neighborhood watches effective? These questions and more will be the topic of discussion at the Public Information Forum sponsored by the Mattapoissett Woman's Club. The forum will be headed by Sgt. Robert Moore, our Crime Prevention Officer in Mattapoissett. The date is March 27th at the Mattapoissett Congregational Church Parish Hall at 7:30 p.m. This meeting is open to the community. We do hope many of you will join us to discuss this timely subject.

Letter to the Editor

MORE ON MARY'S POND

A short time ago I received an anonymous letter from a person who apparently did not wish to sign his or her name. The text of it was, stay out of Snow's Pond! The writer also added indignantly, "Do you want to make Snow's Pond into the same ugly eyesore that Mary's Pond is?"

The answer is, I don't. And I have been concerned for years over the defilement of Mary's Pond. Both are beautiful little spring fed ponds, part of our unrenowable natural resources. Neither should be exploited. Neither should be overburdened.

The present proposal of the Town of Rochester is to construct a large recreational area on the east shore of Mary's Pond. Two well used (to put it mildly) beaches already exist on that same site. It does not seem reasonable...or fair...to place the entire burden of public recreation on Mary's Pond since both are Great Ponds, so defined by the state of Massachusetts. Why could not both Mary's Pond and Snow's be enjoyed by two months, learning "thousands" of lines and executing tricky stage business-disappearing vampires, secret doorways, and the antics of assorted crazies populating Dr. Seward's Asylum for the Insane. Shelly Danse, Ward Duff, Caity Lynch, Nat Seigel, Ann Reidl, Jon Ellums, Steven Smith, Timmy McGowan, and Dori-Ann Rothwell are responsible for all the madness, mystery and mayhem to be seen on stage.

A very able stage crew headed by Eddie Gordon, Dave Cattley, and Andy Knight of the High School consists of: Brian Jardin, Chris Reidl, Hoyt Hottel, Kevin Loudon, Chris Best and Kathy LeClair. These people are all hard at work behind the scenes producing the special effects that add to the atmosphere.

This play promises to be one of the best ever seen at O.R.R. Directing "Count Dracula" is Constance Keavy. Many other committees are also hard at work such as Publicity, Marianne Vanston and Shawna Keavy, and the poster committee. Everyone is cooperating and pitching in for this junior high production.

The play opens on Friday, May 16th,

Louis McKay rebounded with a 416 for Nanfelt's, but was no match for a red hot Bob Jefferson who out-distanced all bowlers for the night with a strong 455. The return of Kenny Osborn (375) and a 400 by Ed Strawn bolstered Guaranteed Pest Control to yet another victory as they touched up Herb's T.V. for all three points (Paul White 353). The criteria for selection consisted of evidence of emerging leadership ability, cooperation with fellow human beings and sensitivity to the needs of others, ability to relate to new pursuits and acquaintances, and the desire to learn and share knowledge and experience with others.

Miss Cattley will now compete with other high school representatives from Massachusetts. One boy and girl from the state will be chosen to attend the annual, all-expense-paid, week-long International Leadership Seminar on America's Incentive System, sponsored by Hugh O'Brian Youth Foundation and coordinated by the University of California, Los Angeles, July 5-12, 1980.

A "Blue Ribbon" committee composed of 53 nationally-recognized leaders will select the candidates at the state level. Those chosen to participate in the International Leadership Seminar will interact with top tenth graders from every state in the nation and 12 other countries and with prominent leaders in business, government, education and the professions.

Foundation in 1958 to seek outstanding high school sophomores and provide them with opportunities for their potential leadership abilities to emerge, develop and be recognized. The Seminars are vital to achieving the Foundation's goals.

"These informal sessions are run by the 10th graders," Mr. O'Brian said. "One of the most exciting aspects of the sessions is the question and answer time with plenty of give and take from the students and the speakers. The Seminars provide a means for the nation's young people to return home and make a positive contribution towards motivating themselves and their classmates to become contributing members of the community. The Seminars also provide the opportunity to take note of the exciting good news about the nation's positive-thinking youth....tomorrow's leaders."

SHIPBUILDERS OF MATTAPOISETT

By Charles S. Mendell, Jr.

The first seven years of the 1850's marked the peak of whaleship building in Mattapoisett. Only three yards were in operation -- Wilson Barstow, Holmes, and Meigs -- but in eight years these three yards launched 47 vessels. These were the yards that carried Mattapoisett's reputation far and wide, and brought forth such comments as these in the New Bedford newspapers:

"This thriving town ranks high in shipbuilding and is distinguished for its naval architecture." (W.S.L. 6/20/51)

The Bark R. L. Barstow "is a perfect gem of shipbuilding." (Ibid.)

In two years, 1851 and 1852, eighteen vessels were launched, 14 of them whalers, and 12 going to New Bedford. In 1852 alone Wilson Barstow built five -- all for New Bedford -- which was such a record that the "Whaleman's Shipping List" commented on it. Perhaps some idea of this bustling business can be gleaned from a few items from New Bedford newspapers of the time:

"A beautiful clipper ship of about 400 tons was launched on the 29th ult. from the shipyard of Wilson Barstow in Mattapoisett. She is owned by J.B. Wood and Co. of this city, and....is called the Gay Head." (W.S.L.

"The new bark John A. Parker was towed around from Mattapoisett on Friday....Her bow is ornamented with a good representation of her namesake, at full length, standing in his well known peculiar attitude, with the right hand upon the lapel of his coat, and the left hand extended in the act of speaking." The Bark Huntress, belonging to Messrs. Cook & Snow of this city, and the ship South Seaman, belonging to Edmund Allen, Esq. of Fairhaven, will be launched from the shipyards of W. ness had already sounded. 1856 was the last big year -- nine whalers, three in a row looming up in Shipyard Park. The blows were coming; 1856 - petroleum discovered; 1857 - panic, and Meigs yard closed forever; 1861 - the Civil War, and the Alabama and the Shenandoah; after the war, the scarcity of whales and the losses in Arctic ice. During the war the Holmes' built a small steamboat and a tugboat; in 1866 Wilson Barstow built his last ship -- the Contest, for Gibbs & Perry of New Bedford. After the war the Holmes' built a schooner and four whalers - the Alaska for Jonathan Bourne, the Concordia for G. & M. Howland, the Gay Head 2nd for Gifford & Cummings, and in 1878 the Wanderer for the same firm.

This was the end. For the last time Arvin Cannon with his lips pursed over his toothless gums carefully drew out the vessel's hull in the loft over the Holmes Office. For the last time the hammering of the caulkers awakened echoes through the streets and across the farms into the woods. For the last time the shipcarpenters had their glass of grog at "eleven and four". And for the last time the townspeople gathered to see the graceful vessel start slowly, and then glide down the greased ways into the harbor of the shipbuilders.

It was the end of a Yankee seaport village where native born sons worked all their lives in a native industry. Where every house -- and most of them are still here -- was the home of a shipcarpenter, outfitter, or whaleman. Where the schools and churches and homes were built with money from the shipyards. And where practically every man was an expert craftsman of high integrity.

It seems entirely fitting that the mizzen mast of the Wanderer should stand as a flagpole in Shipyard Park, a few feet from where she was built. And even more, it seems a proper coincidence that the Wanderer, the last vessel built in Mattapoisett, should be the last whaleship to sail from New Bedford -- New Bedford, whose whaling industry was responsible for Mattapoisett's shipbuilding fame.
